

HOME WORKING

Are your teams thriving or barely surviving?

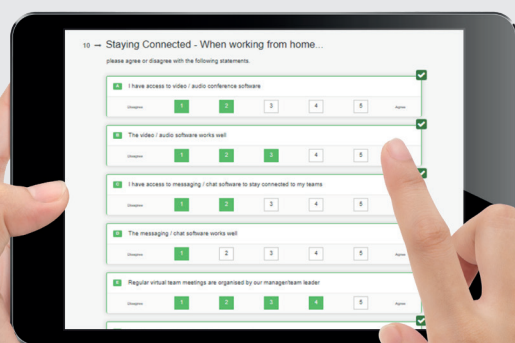

We are in unprecedented territory. Never have people been required to work from home with such speed.

Wouldn't it be good to find out how your workforce are coping working from home?

Are they thriving or barely surviving?

But you won't know this or how to respond to the situation, unless you collect & analyse meaningful data now:

- Do they have a good space to work?
- The right IT equipment, business and video conference software?
- How productive are they being?
- Are they feeling connected with their colleagues, manager and clients?
- How about their wellbeing?
- Are there barriers to being productive?
- Is this a way of working for the future?

The survey takes less than ten minutes to complete.
